HOUSES WILL CLOSE BEFORE JUNE 15TH

Inmates in Resorts in Segregated District Ordered to Leave City.

JUDGE BARLEY ACTS.

Representatves of Florence Crittenton Home in Washington Offer to Provide Homes for Women.

Alexandria's red light district, located for more than half a century on the street that bears the name of the great Confederate General, Robert E. Lee, is to go. June 15 is the date fixed for the final evacuation of the district and after that time severe penalties will be meted out to any woman who establishes a disorderly house within the city limits of Alexandria.

The determination to close the district came as a complete surprise not only to the inmates of the houses affected, but to the people of Alexandria generally.

Yesterday morning the announcement was made by Judge Louis C. Barley, of the Corporation Court, that following a conference with various city officials, he had determined to break up the segregated district. Later in the day Judge Barley completed his plans, and following his suggestion, Mayor Thomas A. Fisher, who is the administrative head of the police department, and Charles T. Goods, chief of police, arranged to place into effect the program that had been agreed upon.

Yesterday afternoon they called on the proprietresses of the various resorts and notified them in person that they must leave the city by June 15th. The women were dazed at the sudden announcement, and weeping and wailing followed the visit of the two officials. A majority of the inmates have lived in Alexandria for many years, and the startling news that they would be compelled to leave the city caused consternation. Many begged the mayor to extend the limit so that they could have more time in which to dispose of their furniture and other effects, but they were told that the date had been positively agreed upon and that not one hour of further grace would be allowed.

Judge Barley, who is responsible for the closing of the district, has had the subject under consideration for several months. When the Kenyon bill went into effect in Washington the situation in Alexandria became acute. At that time Judge Barley notified the keepers of the various houses that he would not tolerate the harboring of any women from Washington and his instructions were carried out to the letter. Later, however, another situation arose due to the influx of men from Washington and soldiers from the forts in the vicinity of Alexandria. Drunkenness on the street cars increased at an alarming rate, and for several weeks the conditions on the late trains between Washington and Alexandria were such as to make travel very uncomfortable for the regular patrons of the road. The railroad company was compelled to employ five special officers to ride the trains at night and the city authorities placed a half dozen policemen in plain clothes on the trains on Saturday nights when the travel was the heaviest. A number of arrests and heavy fines reduced the disorders on the trains.

Several serious disturbances caused by Washington visitors to the red-light district recently brought the matter again to the attention of the court. Jeremiah H. Crilly, a well-known wholesale grocer, was badly beaten up in front of his place of business by three young white men who had spent the afternoon in the resorts on Lee street. A week ago four men came over from Washington in an automobile and after a tour of the red-light district during which time they became intoxicated, endeavored to shoot up the town in true western style. Driving their machine at a high rate of speed they passed up and down the streets of the city, firing revolvers at pedestrians. A colored woman was shot in the face and several citizens had narrow escapes from being killed.

These facts, together with the change in public sentiment all over the country, were the causes of the determination of Judge Barley to bring about action that would close up the district. Conferences were had with the city officials and while there was some opposition to the plans, the notification to the women to leave the city followed.

Before notifying the women Judge Barley, yesterday afternoon had a conference with Mrs. Emma L. Robertson, of Washington, secretary and general superintendent of the National Florence Crittenton Mission, with headquarters in Washington. Mrs. Robertson agreed on behalf of the mission to take charge of any of the girls who would want to leave their present mode of life. Homes will be provided for them in the various institutions located in different sections of the country and such other help rendered as would be necessary. Two trained workers will be sent to Alexandria early next week to make a survey of the district and find out the condition of each of the girls. The expenses of the survey as well as the caring for the girls will be borne by the Florence Crittenton League of Virginia.

A canvass of the district recently made by Chief of Police Goods shows that there are nine houses in Alexandria with fifty-eight inmates. The women range from 20 to 40 years in age. The majority have lived in Alexandria for a number of years.

HONOR JACKSON'S WIDOW.

Great Audience in Richmond Gives Her an Ovation.

Richmond, April 30.—Cheers, echoing and re-echoing through the big building, greeted the frail, bent form of Mrs. Thomas J. Jackson, widow of "Stonewall" Jackson, as she stepped from the platform at the City Auditorium last night, when 3,000 loyal sons and daughters of th South assembled to do homage to the memory of the illlustrious Confederate chieftain. The "rebel yell" rose time and time again when the deeds of the great Southern leader were extolled by the speakers, and though it all the honor guest sat with bowed head and tear-dimmed eyes, but with a glow of pride at the bursts of enthusiasm which greeted her husband's name.

The occasion was a gigantic mass-meeting, which was called as a preliminary to "Stonewall" Jackson Monument Day, which, by proclamation of Governor Stuart, will be celebrated tomorrow by the sale of tiny Confederate flags on the streets of the city—the erstwhile Capital of the Confederacy—which was nobly defended by the man it is now proposed to honor in stone and bronze. The money contributed will go to erect an equestrian monument which will show future generations the gratitude of Richmond and of Virginia.

Governor Henry C. Stuart was the first speaker. He called attention to the failure of Virginia to settle the "greatest unpaid debt against the Commonwealth," and said that it is beyond the power of the people of this State to meet the obligation owed to the memory of "Stonewall" Jackson.

"It is impossible to measure up to the heighth of our obligations," the Governor said, "but we can still give the highest evidence of our sense of gratitude. It is not necessary for me to give any reason why we should rally to this cause; and I firmly believe that Virginias will gladly respond to the call, and we will erect a memorial which shall stand through all time."

REBELS ARE TO ATTACK TAMPICO

Mexican Constitutionalists With Cannon Marching Toward City.

TO GUARD AMERICANS.

President Wilson Denies Report of Bombardment of Manzanillo by Admiral Howard.

Washington, April 30.—The victorious constitutionalist forces, which last week drove the Mexican federals out of Monterey, are now moving to join the attack on Tampico. They are taking with them a number of pieces of artillery, lack of which has prevented any serious inroads on the Federal positions at the oil point.

News of this latest movement the constitutionalist army was received at the navy departmetn earl ytoday in dispatch from Admiral Bidger He reported that the American consurt at Tampico, who had been on Admiral Mayo's flagship for several days, has gone ashore under guarantee of safety from the federal commander to settle up the affairs of his consulate which he is turning over to the British consul. The American consular agent at Tuxpan has taken refuge on the British steamer Waneta and is proceeding to Galveston.

Mexico City, April 30.—Gen. Aureliano Blanquet, minister of war, announced that he has received from Gen. Jose Maria Mier, a telegram stating that the port of Manzanillo, on the Pacific coast, had been bombarded Tuesday by an American warship.

According tao Gen. Mier's message, the American warship entered Manzanillo harbor at 4 o'clock in the afternoon on April 28. At 4:30 the telegraphers left their posts, carrying their instruments with them, and at o'clock the bombardment began.

The telegram says the wharves adjoining buildings were destroyed by shell fires.

A dispatch from Oxaca says American marines landed at Salina Cruz after the American commander had threatened to open fire on the port in case the Mexican officials offered resistance.

Another dispatch from Acapulco says the commander of the American cruiser South Dakota asked permission to land there, but he was refused by the Mexican authorities.

Washington, April 30.—Flat denial was made this morning at the White House of the reported bombardment of Manzanillo on the west coast of Mexico by Rear Admiral Howard's squadron.

Denial was also made that marines and bluejackets had been landed there or at Salina Cruz.

Secretary of Navy Daniels informed the White House he had made inquiries of Admiral Howard regarding both reports. The admiral replied that the reports were not true, but added that incendiary fires had been started in several buildings at Manzanillo, and suggested that these fires probably have given rise to the report that the town had been bombarded.

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE.

High School Performance Tomorrow Night Promises to be Grand Affair.

The High School players' benefit performance on Friday for the new hospital will probably surpass the performances already given. The players have been rehearsing and working to brush out all the mistakes of their appearances. The large stage of the Opera House and the better acoustics, together with the scenery will also tend to add to the play. The open fire in Everystudent's room and the rising full moon in the first act of the Princess will again be attempted. Friday night is the time and the curtain will rise promptly at 8:15. A packed house is expected. Tickets are 35 cents and reserved seats 50 cents. Every citizen of Alexandria should buy a ticket, and all who can should see the performance. The entire receipts will go to the hospital.

The Opera House is to be thoroughly gone over and cleaned before tomorrow night.

DICTATOR WILL NOT ABDICATE

Mexican President Has Not Made up His Mind Concerning Mediation.

MAY TAKE HIS FLIGHT.

Alleged Liability of United States to Bondholders in Taking Possession of City of Vera Cruz.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 30.—Mexico's agreement to mediation is not without reservation. Dictator Huerta has not made up his mind as to how far he is willing to go toward bringing about peace and the matter of resigning has apparently not be considered by him.

The situation in Mexcan capital was clearly indicated today in a message which I received from Lopez Portillo y Rojas, secretary of foreign affairs. That mediation is acceptable to Mexico in principle only is the key note of this message, which carries the inference that Huerta has not considered resigning.

"Up to now mediation is acceptable to Mexico in principle only," Rojas' message stated.

"As soon as the details of mediation to which Mexico is willing to agree are decided upon I will be in a better position to make a statement. I hope mediation will bring a solution acceptable to the dignity of both governments."

Just what satisfying the dignity of the Mexican government in negotiations of this sort carries with it, it is obvious. Huerta is the Mexican government, or at least that part against which the operatons of the United States has been directed.

The dictator may take refuge in flight when his last bluff has lost effect, or when rebel or American troop sare poundnig at the very gates of Mexico City, but those who have observed him throughout the stormy months of his regime do not expect him to resign.

If that is one of the conditions of mediation laid down by the United States, there appears to be but slight hope of success.

It was rumored here today that the seizure of Vera Cruz may make the United States responsible for the payment of $12,000,000 quarterly, representing the interest on Mexican bonds; 60 per cent of the customs receipts at this port have been laid aside for the purpose of the next payment of interest due in August. The possibility of such a complication is increased, it was declared in some quarters today, but the fact that European bondholders must be satisfied and must go on the interest paying roll of the United States under the present occupation plan.

CONDITIONS IN ULSTER.

Passing Through Great Crisis—Civil War Feared.

London, April 30.—Ulster is facing a great crisis, and with military and naval forces mobilizing, Ireland may be plunged into bloody civil war at any hour.

An important proclamation was drawn up by members of the cabinet at Premier Asquith's residence yesterday. This proclamation, which will not be issued until absolutely necessary, is believed to order martial law in Ulster.

The Ulstermen are frantically distributing rifles to prevent wholesale confiscation by the government and they boast that they have dynamite and barbed wire ready to delay the rapid advance of the soldiery. They are also tapping telegraph wires and learning the contents of all messages sent out by army headquarters.

Eleven British war vessels appeared in Bangor bay and dropped anchor yesterday. This augments the fleet, thrown around Ireland to prevent the activities of "gun runners."

Six regiments at Dublin were ordered to prepare for immediate departure to Belfast. The troops will coperate with the naval forces in checking smuggling of arms to the Ulstermen.

Sir Edwin Carson, leader of the Ulster Unionists, one of the chief figures in the home rule fight, declared on the floor of the Commons yesterday that he and his colleagues would bear the full consequences of their past actions.

"Ulster will never be forced into home rule," he said, "but if there is an Irish Parliament set up in Dublin pending a settlement of the Irish question upon the basis of a federal government system, and the people of Ulster discover benefits, which they cannot see now, Ulster province might be induced to form one unit with the rest of Ireland for representation in a federal congress."

GOOD WORK IS STILL GOING ON

Committee Engaged in Collecting Money For Hospital Encouraged.

$17,301 IS ASSURED.

One Person Brings in $542 in Money and Pledges—Walton Moore Subscribes $100.

The committee at its session last night was greatly pleased at the results of the canvass for the day, and every one applauded when the total for the blackboard reached $17,301. One of the committee who has done very good work, brought in a roll of money and pledges amounting to $542.00. A subscription of $100 was received from Hon. R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax.

As there has been less than two hundred and fifty contributors to the fund, out of the 17,000 people in the city, it can readily be seen that there is little fear that the entire amount needed will not be subscribed.

Attention is again called to the fact that those who are able to subscribe should do so promptly, so as to relieve the committee of its serious burden and loss of time to induce others to send in their subscriptions. Every one should remember that the contributions, no matter how small or how large, is a contribution to the cause of humanity and one which may in time return, like bread cast upon the waters, to benefit the subscriber.

Instead of leaving money to the hospital when yo udie, how much better it would be to contribute at least a portion to the fund while you live, so that you can see the results of your good work and derive benefits therefrom.

The people are reminded that the High School will give their benefit to the Hospital fund at the Opera House on Friday night, and every one should not only be there, but should bring their uncles, aunts, cousins, and all their wives relations.

When contributions of $100 and $150 are sent in by our neighbors in Washington and Fairfax county and as heretofore stated a lady who heard Dr. Morton's reference in a sermon, to the hospital, took interest enough to send her check for $10, it is time for every one to aid the hospital fund. If you do not feel that you can make a large contribution at this time, do not forget that you can add to it later on.

The committee have planned to organize clubs as follows, and have sent out a large number of letters from which is extracted the following:

Two Hundred Dollar Club—Each member will pay $20 per month for ten months.

One Hundred and Fifty Dollar Club—Each member will pay $10 per month for ten monthts.

Fifty Dollar Club—Each member will pay $5 per month for ten months.

Twenty Five Dollar Club — Each member will pay $2.50 per month month for ten months.

Ten Dollar Club—Each member will pay $1.00 per month for ten months.

The committee requests every member of the executive committee and the trustees of hospital to meet tonight at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, as business of great importance is to come up.

The executive committee and trustees of the Alexandria Hospital will hold a joint meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. All interested are asked to be present

SEASON ABOUT AT END

Fishery of Present Year, Like Recent Predecessors, Was Not Satisfactory

In the olden time the fishing season was generally regarded as nearing its close on May 1st. By that time, however, thousands of barrels of shad and herring had been caught hereabouts, and cut and packed. Fishtown about this time would begin to show signs of lassitude, and by the first week in May conditions would be approaching the normal.

Notwithstanding the fact that the government steamers have cruised in Chesapeake Bay and endeavored to have fishing in those waters so conducted as to allow shad and herring to pass into the Potomac, it seems most of the finny tribe have lost their way to this vicinity or been turned to other waters. Gillers living in Alexandria and operating their nets a short distance south of the city have met with disappointment this spring, while others who fished twenty or thirty miles away caught some shad.

In by-gone years—especially during the civil war—Hunting Creek was often alive with herring during the latter part of April. On one occasion parties who placed a small seine in that tributary found it almost impossible to land it for the abundance of fish enclosed.

Upon the site of what is now known as "Petersburg" northeastern section of Alexandria, herring were at one time caught in such abundance that they sold for fifty cents a cartload.

POTOMAC RIVER ON RAMPAGE.

Owing to heavy floods coming from mountain streams, the Potomac river is higher than it has been in several years, and tugs are having great difficulty. It takes two tugs to do the work ordinarily done by one. A big coal barge was detained at Georgetown yesterday, as none of the owners would risk trying to take it through the draw of the Highway bridge.

Owing to the enormous quantity of mud carried down by the flood waters, fishermen have had to lay aside their tackle and wait for more favorable conditions.

FINED TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS

Aftermath of Shooting Affray in Northwestern Section of City Recently.

Ernest Lloyd, colored, was brought before the Police Court this morning to answer the charge of assaulting Benjamin Parker, colored, with a bottle about two weeks ago. A row, it will be remembered, took place among some negroes near a saloon in the "Petersburg" section of the city during which a pistol was used. During the row the parties ran west several squares and terrorized the neighborhood, until finally some of them ran into the colored school and caused terror among teachers and scholars.

During the affray Benjamin Parker was struck with a bottle. Lloyd when he faced the court this morning denied having struck Parker with the bottle, but acknowledged having thrown it at him. Justice Caton imposed a fine of $25.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION

DEATH OF REV. DR. CLARK.

Rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Richmond, Passes Away.

Richmond, Va., April 30.—After a long illness, the Rev. Dr. Wm. Meade Clark, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, died yesterday afternoon in his home, 1008 Park Avenue, his daughter, Miss Emily Clark, having given a great deal of her blood, which was transfused into her father's body in an effort to save his life.

Dr. Clark swallowed a chicken bone several months ago and suffered a great deal from internal complications. It was while conducting services in old St. James Church, Fifth and Marshall streets that he became ill and suffered hemmorhages.

The great loss of blood necessitated operations to prolong his life. His daughter submitted to the transfusion of her blood into her father's veins.

The condition of Dr. Clark became so much improved that he was able to resume his duties as rector of St. James church. Meanwhile the Rev. Thomas C. Darst, of Newport News, was called to became assistant rector. Shortly after Mr. Darst came here to assist Dr. Clark the rector became ill, and his condition had been regarded as critical several days previous to his death.

Dr. Clark was born in Halifax county May 5, 1855, and received his early education there. He received his liberal education at the University of Virginia and his theological training at the Theological Seminary near Alexandria. He was ordained to the ministry in 1881 and received his degree of doctor of divinity from Washington and Lee University. He had served on important committees of the diocese of Virginia. He was a number of times deputy from Virginia to the general convention of his church in the United States.

Dr. Clark before coming to Richmond had held charges in several places in Virginia and North Carolina. He was editor of the Southern Churchman and author of a most interesting and valuable publication entitled "Colonial Church in Virginia."

Dr. Clark was universally popular both as a minister and a citizen. He was held in high regard and esteem by people of all denominations because his high personal qualities and his wide and generous sympathy. Dr. Clark was a forceful and eloquent preacher and bound his large congregation and innumerable other friends to him as by hoops of steel because o his faithful service and his tender ministrations, and his courtesy a kindliness.

Dr. Clark was married three times. He is survived by a widow and one daughter, a child by his first wife.

His first wife was Miss Laura Walker, daughter of the late Prof. Walker, of the Episcopal Theological Seminary, near Alexandria. Dr. Clark several years ago received a call to Christ Church in this city, which he did not accept.

Professors S. A. Wallis and Berryman Green will attend the funeral in Richmond tomorrow afternoon.

NEW RAILROAD TO BE BUILT.

Line 25 Miles Long Will Open 25,000 Acres of Timber.

Lynchburg, Va., April 30.—The Virginia Blue Ridge Railway, for which a charter will soon be applied, will be built from Type river, on the main line of the Southern Railway, to Massie's Mills, a distance of 25 miles. The railway will follow the Tye and Piny rivers, in Nelson county, and will open a territory rich in natural resources.

The road is being built by a syndicate which owns 25,000 acres of timber rights along the route. It is understood that ample local and New York capital is interested in the project.

Surveys for the line have been completed and 10 railway contractors have been asked to submit bids for the construction. The bids are expected to be in May 8.

SEEKING MISSING GIRL.

Young Woman of Campbell County Supposed to be in Lynchburg.

Lynchburg, Va., April 30.—For several days Lynchburg has been scoured in search of Josie Haythe, a seventeen-year-old white girl, who left her home in Campbell county sometime ago. Her brother is now in the city making a thorough search, assisted by every policeman on the force. She is described as having blue eyes, weighing 120 pounds, rather shy and unused to city life, as she came directly from the country.

A short time ago she wrote to a relative in Campbell county, stating that she was living in Lynchburg, and had a position as companion to an elderly woman of wealth. She urged that the folks back home do not worry about her, as she was getting along nicely.

She did not give her Lynchburg address, however, and the relatives of the girl, becoming solicitous of her welfare, prevailed upon her brother to come to the city and persuade the young girl to return to her home. He came here several days ago and has been searching high and low for her, but has not gotten the slightest trace of her whereabouts.

NO HOPE FOR MINERS.

One Hundred and Eighty-Six Are Entombed.

Eccles, W. Va., Aprl 30.— Nine bodies have been recovered from shaft No. 6 of the New River Collieries Co. which, with shaft No. 5, was wrecked by an explosion Tuesday. Sixty-seven men were taken out alive. There are no more men in No. 6.

One hundred and eighty-six men are entombed in mine No. 5 and officers of the company fear that none would escape wth his life.

Chief Earl Henry, of the State Department of Mines, led a volunteer crew down the shaft of No. 5 mine yesterday afternoon, but the cage was obstructed about 100 feet from the bottom.

A second attempt was made later and the cage went to within 60 feet of the bottom. It was then discovered that the guides were badly damaged and that nothing further could be done until they are repaired.

No gas was detected on this level, and mining experts expressed the belief that the mine was not on fire.

Orders have been issued for the manufacture of small caliber projectiles of the high explosive class in the shops of the Washington navy yard. It is expected that the actual work of manufacturing the projectiles will begin next Monday morning. It is expected that this order will be followed by a number of larger ones for projectiles for the big guns of the battleships.

VIRGINIA CHIEF SURGEON.

Harrisonburg, Va., April 30.—Dr. George Tully Vaughan, the distinguished surgeon and graduate of the University of Virginia, has left Washington for Philadelphia, where he will sail for Vera Cruz to become the government's chief operating surgeon in the field.

Dr. Vaughan is a member of the reserve medical crops and subject to call to active service at any time. He did not wait to be called, however, but volunteered his services, which, were promptly accepted.

He will leave on the Morro Castle, which will also carry 800 marines to Vera Cruz. He has not been instructed yet whether he will be placed in charge of the staff of Admiral Badger's flagship or the hospital at Vera Cruz.

Dr. Vaughan is one of the most noted surgeons of the country. His services are considered a great acquisition to the medical corps. He is thoroughly familiar with army and field surgery, having served in the Spanish war.

ENGINEER INJURED.

Struck on Head by Switch Lever he Was Operating.

Roanoke, Va., April 30.—Joseph E. Daniels, a Norfolk & Western yard conductor, who lives at 729 Staunton avenue, Northwest, was perhaps fatally injured Tuesday afternoon at a few minutes before 2 o'clock when he attempted to throw a high switch on the East End yards.

The lever struck Daniel in the head, rendering him unconscious and it is thought that his skull is fractured.

CALL IS DECLINED.

Rector Will Not go to Meade Memorial Church in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., April 30.—The Rev. Thomas Semmes, of Covington, V who was extended a call by the vestry of Meade Memorial Episcopal Church two weeks ago, has declined the offer. He assigns the illness of his wife and the fact that he has been in his present charge only a short time as reasons for declining the call.

A letter from the Rev. Mr. Semmes making known his decision, was received and acted upon by the vestry Monday night.

The Rev. Semmes was for many years rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Richmond.

Names of eight Catholic priests who have volunteered to serve in the American army or navy in case of war with Mexico were sent to the President yesterday.

RED LIGHT DISTRICT IS ABOUT TO GO.

Attempts were made last winter to get the Legislature of Virginia to pass an act to eliminate disorderly resorts from the Old Dominion. Should such a law be passed in years to come the Augean stables of Alexandria may be found in a condition to pass inspection. Judge L. C. Barley, of the Corporation Court, has ordered the red light district of Alexandria to be closed, and the proprietresses of these resorts are given until the fifteenth of June to gather up bag and baggage and leave the city.

An inventory made by members of the police department shows that, including mistresses, forty-three white and fifteen colored women form the inmates of houses of ill repute in Alexandria.

Red light districts have been thorns in the sides of the authorities of all places ever since civilization has been established upon the earth, and all sorts of expedients have been resorted to in order to abolish or curb such localities. It has been found almost impossible to do either, and although conditions may remain normal for a time, occasionally serious troubles originate in such places.

Since the eradication of notorious houses in the District of Columbia the authorities of Alexandria have endeavored to keep the refugees from invading our midst. They have been successful, in a measure, but the increasing number of visitors from other cities to the red light section of Alexandria have brought trouble here, so much so that the police are forced to devote much of their time to the nocturnal floating population.

Scenes in the streets of our city a few nights ago show to what extent some of these visitors will go in order to manifest contempt for our city. They virtually attempted to shoot up Alexandria, and the police were compelled to go some distance beyond the city limits in order to capture the outlaws.

Such scenes are liable to occur again, and, the authorities believe, if the attractions are forced to leave the city we will enjoy more tranquility, especially after dark.

Apart from all this, there is a young generation among us, some of whom are no better, morally, than precocious youths in other places, who often meet their ruin among women who have renounced the respectable walk of life for one of shame. The mantle of protection should be around them before their tastes shall have been perverted.

The L-shaped section of Alexandria extending on Lee street from Queen to Princess streets and about half a square on Princess street, has been notorious for many years. The three-story brick house on the west side of Lee street has been the main temple of Astarte, while minor structures, bearing emblems of the goddess, have nestled under its shadow.

The action of the authorities in waiting until mid-summer to evict these people was better than forcing them to the streets in frigid weather. They have plenty of time to wind up their affairs and shake the dust of the city from their feet. It is hoped they will do so quietly and not force the authorities to use any drastic means in order to force compliance with the order. Announcement is made that provision will be made to take care of every woman who wishes to change her method of life.

There are some persons in the community who, while not disposed to make apologies for people who conduct questionable resorts, cannot see what effectual good can come from this movement. It will be better to wait and see if the atmosphere is cleared by the action of the authorities before making comment. Of course, it is impossible to eliminate immorality from any community. If people make up their minds to go wrong, who can stop them? But disorderly houses can be prevented from standing as public eyesores. The United States government during the civil war attempted to deal with the immoral conditions then so prevalent here. An order was issued giving all persons having no visible means of support so many hours to leave the city. The persons at whom the order was aimed went into the shade until the storm blew over, as is always the case.

LESS DYSPEPSIA NOW
—HERE'S THE REASON.

The fact that there is less dyspepsia and indigestion in this community than there used to be is largely, we believe, due to the extensive use of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, hundreds of packages of which we have sold. No wonder we have faith in them. No wonder we are willing to offer them to you for trial entirely at our risk.

Among other things they contain Pepsin and Bismuth, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science. They soothe the inflamed stomach, allay pain, check heartburn and distress, help to digest the food, and tend to quickly restore the stomach to its natural, comfortable, healthy state.

There is no red tape about our guarantee. It means just what it says. We'll ask you no questions. Your word is enough for us. If Rexall Dyspepsia tablets don't restore your stomach to health and make your digestion easy and comfortable, we want you to come back for your money. They are sold only at the 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town by Wm. P. Taylor, druggist, 616 King street.

MURDER IN LOUISA.

Killing of Young Merchant Puzzles Authorities.

Charlottesville, Va., April 30.—The best informed persons near the scene of the murder in Green Springs, Louisa county, nearly a fortnight ago, seem convinced that the detectives and others who have investigated have reached a conclusion as to who was responsible for the killing of Victor K. Hall, the young merchant, station agent and postmaster. The story is rounding out gradually, but to the public there are many dark places upon which it would be interesting to have light.

Mrs Hall, the middle-aged wife of the 24-year-old victim of the assassin's bullet, told the story of the tragedy in very brief fashion. Indeed, there were few details. Her husband had not been well and had gone to bed early the previous evening. Both of them were asleep when his father, Mr. Nicholas W. Hall, awoke him soon after midnight with the news that Dunkum's store across the railroad was burning.

The story of the Hall and Dunkum families is an interwoven narrative of intimate relations. Some years ago the Dunkum brothers, of Wilmington, Fluvanna county, opened a store for the sale of general merchandise at Green Springs. When they reached that place Victor Hall, then little more than a youth, was the village postmaster and station agent. In time they built up a good trade, but death overtook the elder Dunkum and the young stationmaster married the widow and there by took over the dead man's interest. Later W. R. Dunkum retired from the firm and built a store room across the railroad and began a business which at once became popular with the people of the community. The store was burned on the night of the murder. The marriage of young Hall and the widow Dunkum, the co-partnership with the surviving Dunkum brother, the separation and the establishment of another store across the railroad, its destruction by fire and the murder of Hall are events crowded into the past year.

After fitting out the house she intended to make her future home, buying her wedding trosseau, and inviting 45 persons to witness the ceremony, Miss Magdalene Ess, 20 years old, a pretty German girl of Locust Point, Baltimore, declares her husband to be failed to materialize. Miss Ess says she waited at Counsel Monday of our Lady of Good Counsel Monday for a half hour, only to find that her intended husband, George Barth, 22 years old, was not going to carry out his promise to wed her. She asked the police to arrest Barth, but was told her only redress lay in a breach of promise suit.

The Hall store and the Hall residence were parts of one building. The store was what might be called the front end of an L, while the other part farther from the street was occupied as a residence. Hall and his wife slept in a room in the rear of the store, while the rooms upstairs were occupied by Mrs. Hall's two daughters—one nearly grown, and two young women who boarded with Hall and his wife. The six made up the entire family.

Mrs. Hall's short story of the murder of her husband disclosed few illuminating facts. She said that she and her husband were awakened about 4 o'clock in the morning, three hours after the burning of the Dunkum store, by a noise either in front of the store or within the store. He hastily lighted a lamp and went into the store. She heard him say in a despairing way, "God have mercy on me!" Then a pistol shot rang out, and she hurried into the store only to find her husband stretched on the floor with a bullet through his brain. She says she found him lying about 15 feet from the front door, which h had left unlocked when he returned from the fire, with the key in the lock inside. The wound, as already described, ranged from the back of the head through the brain, lodging underneath the skin near the left eye.

The coroner's jury ended its investigation with a verdict that Hall had come to his death at the hands of a person or persons unknown to the jury. Among the evidence before the jury was the fact that the body was not found at the point indicated by Mrs. Hall, but just inside the store from his and his wife's bedroom. There was no blood at this point. This was a puzzling circumstance to the jury, inasmuch as the wound was of a nature to bleed freely. A pistol was found on a bureau in the Hall bedroom with one chamber empty except for the shell, and the others loaded. The jury did not believe that this pistol had been used.

There is intense curiosity as to what the detectives will report; whether they will find any connection between the burning of the Dunkum store and the murder of Hall; whether, in case they do, the same hand used the torch and the pistol, and what was the motive for each crime and what linked the crimes together. The sleuths are understood to be very competent men—one employed, it is understood, by an insurance company and the other a Pinkerton, by the Hall family. It seems certain that they have exploded the theory of burglary and robbery, since nothing was missing. The story which was featured in some newspapers to the effect that the telephone wires were cut before the burning of the store and the murder, has proven to be pure fiction.

William J. Fisher, isthmian canal commission clerk and clubman, of Washington, was acquitted last night of the murder of William L. Altdorfer, a newspaper and magazine writer, in the home of the latter at Chevy Chase, near Washington, on the evening of August 29, last.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Under indictment for murder, and worried over the future of his little girl, who is in a Washington orphan asylum, Herman Kubansky, 28 years old, was found hanging by the neck in a cell at the United States jail at 6 o'clock last night. Kubansky was unconscious when cut down. Dr. Frank E. Gibson worked over the man for fifteen minutes, and succeeded in reviving him. Kubansky had taken a towel, made a noose in one end, through which he slipped his head, and had tied the other end to the iron grating of the cell door. He was found suspended, with his knees drawn up.

The Japanese government, it has developed, was asked and declined to act for the Huerta administration through its diplomatic representatives in Washington and its consuls in the United States, prior to Mexico's application to Spain to perform this mission, which was accepted. While the Japanese embassy declines to confirm the report, it is known to be well founded and to have given great satisfaction to the President as a significant expression of Japan's good will and friendliness toward this country. The purpose of Japan's actions is understood to have been a desire to preserve the strictest neutrality between the United States and Mexico, as outlined in the recent declaration of Count Okuma, the new Japanese premier, made at Tokyo.

Wearing crepe on their arms, bearing black-bordered banners, and otherwise exhibiting all the somber trapping of grief, a silent file of men and women, headed by Upton Sinclair, the socialist author, paraded this morning as "mourners" before the door of 26 Broadway, New York, where John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has his office, in mute protest against the treatment of the Colorado miners, for which they held the oil magnate's son responsible. Other members of a relay of silent mourners took their place in front of Standard Oil headquarters, and with the same mute monotony paced up and down the pavement, under the direction of Sinclair's second wife. The puppet show of sorrow was allowed to proceed undisturbed during the remainder of the day.

The steamer Benjamin Noble, her crew of twenty or more, and a large cargo of railroad iron were swallowed up in the turbulent waters of storm-swept Lake Superior Tuesday night. General belief is that she missed the Duluth entrance, and struck the point and foundered in very deep water.

Boy Killed Instantly.

Clifton Forge, Va., April 30.—Leslie Hamilton, about fifteen years of age, of this city, met instant death Monday night on the Chesapeake and Ohio yards just east of this city. Young Hamilton was riding on a freight train from Eagle Rock and it is thought that he jumped from the train just east of the city with the intention of walking into town and thus avoid possible detection. When he left the freight train passenger train No. 15 was due, and it is supposed that he fell beneath the wheels of the passenger train. His injuries were the loss of one limb, a severely cut head and his chest was mashed. Death was undoubtedly instantaneous.
